Easter, 1948

On the third Easter Sunday since the end of World war II, the world has made no progress toward Christian principles in international affairs. The United Nations, designed to bring order out of the anarchy of nations, suffers a progressive loss of prestige. The war-weary world is still full of belligerents.

In many trouble zones, man's inhumanity to man makes countless thousands mourn. In the Holy land, which has seen many another strife-torn Easter season, old animosities flame anew. Our bungling efforts to ease the situation there have only added to the confusion and hatreds.

Italy, second only to the Holy land in Christian heritage, finds itself beset from without and within by a political faith which denies Christianity and all religions. In a fateful election scheduled for next month, a measurement will be taken of the inroads which "ism" have made.

The people of Czechoslovakia are in the grip of a "people's government" which decreed that they spend Palm Sunday working to celebrate their "liberation." Finland and the Scandinavian countries are subjected to increasing pressure.

All the nations of the west, founded on the Christian ethic, are on the defensive. Their problem is: How to wage against a police state which resorts to any and all means, setting up fifth columns and exerting political pressure in the name of "democracy."

The most hopeful sign in recent months has been the willingness of these nations to close ranks and parry political blows aimed to disrupt them. Their mutual assistance pledges constitute a concrete effort to keep them from being undermined one by one.

So it is that Easter, 1948, comes to Christendom. In the light of world events, it is not a happy time. Yet the message that Easter brings anew in the springtime of each year instills new courage and hope in the hearts of men of good will everywhere.

Both Garters Dragging

The picture of Uncle Sam pulling himself together to handle his obligations as the No. 1 world power is inspiring.

The old gentleman's earnestness is like a bright light in a world being blacked out by the spreading terror of police state rule.

Even his weaknesses are made attractive by his sincere attempts to rise above them, such as the fortitude with which he is approaching hard decisions in an election year—decisions it would be easier to put aside until a more convenient time.

His generosity is without equal. It is so traditional that his beneficiaries sometimes forget that it is not automatic but must be carried on by deliberate and separate decisions, weighing all the evidence for and against in a deliberate manner.

No one who has watched Uncle Sam go through this kind of experience before, or who is aware of the courage required to go through it again so soon after the disillusionment of World War II can fail to be impressed. There is only one thing that disturbs them.

Uncle Sam is doing all this with a coal strike in progress. The major source of American energy has been cut off by the decision of one man who holds an almost absolute power of veto over national decision.

It is as though Uncle Sam were struggling to tie to a great occasion with both garters dragging, a circumstance that surely will not go unnoticed by the countries he is trying to impress.

Advice For Wallace

Sound advice for Henry A. Wallace was forthcoming the other day from Representative Sam Rayburn of Texas. He said Wallace at least once during his campaign of speech making should find occasion to make favorable mention of something the United States has done.

Wallace may question the value of advice from a southern Democrat, but such a suggestion, if followed, would identify for some the country in which Wallace is seeking office. As things stand now, he should carry every precinct in Moscow, Minsk, Magnitogorsk, Baku and Petropavlovsk.

The Policeman's Lot

The policeman's lot is a happier one than it was in the days when Gilbert and Sullivan wrote their colorful ditty about guardians of the law.

Police pay in cities of more than 10,000 has risen 33 percent in the last three years. New York's average of $3,900 is highest. The Toledo figure of $3,300 is among the leaders. More than 75 percent of all cities have some type of pension plan and forces have been increased from 1.38 per 1,000 population in 1945 to 1.80 today.

In return for better working standards, educational and physical requirements for police recruits have been raised so that the citizen is getting better protection for his money.

Culinary Progress

The Army has developed a pill that will combat hunger by destroying the appetite. Thus, we suppose, is an improvement over the old days when Army chow could do the same thing.

Mrs. Irene Joliet-Curie is a Communist sympathizer as well as a famous nuclear physicist. Her husband is a member of the French Communist Party and she herself came to this country under sponsorship of a left-wing group.

But our embassy in Paris did issue her a 15-day visitor's visa. Then, when she arrived, she was immediately taken in hand by immigration officers, questioned for hours and kept overnight at the hotel. This seems to be the Russian way of doing things.

Certainly her movements here should be limited if they would endanger national security. But she might be treated more courteously and allowed to talk and write freely, including the names of liberals in a free country. This is what a nation that claims to be a free country should do.

than the heavy-handed treatment which is bound to leave Mrs. Joliet-Curie with a bad impression and a suspicion that our talk about freedom does not always match our actions.

The Stars Say

BY GENEVIEVE KEMBLE
For Saturday, March 27

The astral stimuli to the mental and nervous system should forecast a particularly lively and eventful day, with travel, change, fresh plans and ideas, also substantial new contracts or agreements.

These cover advertising, publicity, all writings and publications, as well as speechmaking and everything concerning youthful activities and interests, general progress and lively doings in all lines, commercial and intellectual.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a lively and progressive year in which affairs generally prove lucrative, interesting and pleasant.

Travel, communications, writings, publicity, new contracts and agreements may be shrewdly and safely engineered, even though change and rearrangements are in order.

The wits are keen and far-seeing and the nervous tension keyed to the accomplishment of high adventure and productivity.

A child born on this day should be exceptionally versatile and adaptable with much creative talent for a progressive and pleasant career.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

BY WALTER NIEMAN

Movie stars are offered an opportunity to appear on Romanian postage stamps . . . this is the first time the philatelists have moved into Fido's territory.

It will make for wider interest when there are 95 many souvenir cover girls as covers.

But the man who retires to his den with a magnifying glass and the Hollywood bands is going to have a difficult time convincing his wife he's looking for subscriptions in the perforations.

Still those who expected to win Oscars and didn't can always appeal to the postmaster general if they really are a ruling on their credulity.

500,000 will put a movie star on a Romanian stamp and the rest will get out an American stamp and either use the stamp or in whether you get out of it.

Aids Treatment of Scabies

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

Since the discovery of penicillin, chemists have been at work trying to produce other germ-killing drugs.

One of these, a sort of second cousin of penicillin, called tyrothricin, has been found unexpectedly useful in the treatment of scabies, a skin disorder produced not by a germ but by a parasite or tiny animal which gets onto the skin and then burrows into it.

At the places where these little pests enter the skin, there is a great deal of itching. Since scratching an itchy place is the most natural thing in the world, there is also a great deal of scratching, with the result that the skin is broken, germs get in, and a secondary infection is set up. This results in the formation of pimples and boils.

As a rule, scabies is not difficult to diagnose. All that is needed is a careful inspection of the skin by the doctor. There are times, however, when it is necessary for the doctor to examine for the parasite under a microscope.

How Parasites Spread

The parasites may be carried from one part of the body to another by the hands. They may also be carried on wearing apparel, as well as on bed clothing. Since the parasites may be transferred from one person to another, usually all members of a family have the disorder at the same time. This is especially true when they all use the same towel.

In adults, the most common location of the burrows is between the fingers and about the lower abdomen and the groin. In children, lesions are more widespread on the body, being especially common on the face, chest and abdomen. However, sores are never found on any part of the body not accessible to the fingers. Itching is especially severe when the patient goes to bed and gets warmed up under the covers.

Interesting Studies

During the war, many persons were infected with scabies and some interesting studies were carried out. For example, a number of healthy persons had the scabies parasites placed on their bodies. These were watched, and it was noted that symptoms, such as itching, did not develop until about thirty days later.

These persons were then cured of their scabies and the experiment was repeated. This time inflammation and itching occurred within a few hours. In other words, these persons became sensitized to the scabies so that later on, when rein-fection occurred, symptoms developed almost at once.

As might be expected, the new drug, tyrothricin, being a germ killer, is not effective against the scabies parasite but it has proved most useful in controlling the secondary infection due to scratching. Thus, in the treatment of scabies, tyrothricin is mixed with benzyl benzoate, a substance which successfully attacks the parasite itself. The two together not only eliminated the scabies, but, within two weeks, got rid of the sores and boils which had developed as a result of the scratching and infection. Only one reaction occurred from the tyrothricin.

Of course, when scabies is diagnosed early and treated promptly, a secondary infection will not occur. However, in most instances, the scabies is present so long that scratching does take place and infections do develop. Hence, the mixture of tyrothricin and benzyl beh-zoate should be found extremely useful in treating this disorder.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

R. V.: What would make the heart beat fast at times? I have been told that my heart is all right.

Answer: There are many causes of rapid heart beat. It may be due to the presence of a mild infection, such as is found in the teeth, tonsils, or nasal sinuses.

Proper treatment for the condition cannot be suggested until a thorough examination by a physician discloses the cause.

Rapid heartbeat is also found in various nervous disorders. High blood pressure, toxic goitre, or excessive secretions from the thyroid gland may cause an increase in the rate of the heart beat. Excessive smoking may also cause it.

Letters to Dr. Bundesen should be addressed in care of 235 E. 45th St., New York City.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Opposes 'Fast' Time

Editor, The News:
Attention city council:
Farmers, mothers and school teachers should have their say on the question of Daylight Saving time. They are the people who feed, clothe, teach and see that life goes on as it should and they are the ones affected most by the time change.

There is one thing the councilmen might consider before they vote. "Is 'fast' time popular in my ward?"

ARNOLD CALLS FOR STRENGTH, UNITY TO HALT RUSSIANS

SONOMA, Calif., March 26—Gen. H. H. (Hap) Arnold today called for a union of democracies strongly backed by air, sea and land power to stop Communism's world advance. "Some nations respect only force and power. Russia is just such a nation," Arnold wrote in his weekly column in the Sonoma Index-Tribune. The wartime chief of the air force retired to a ranch here.

"Get a union of democratic nations with the common purpose of stopping the advance of Communism—and if that union were backed by the mightiest air force in the world; by armies and navies that matched the Russian armies and navies, but with superior equipment, then were such a federation to say to Russia: 'There is the line over which you shall not step,' she would then understand what we meant for we would be talking her language."

Arnold began his column with: "Personally I do not believe war is just around the corner, nor do I believe Russia wants war; nor do I believe Russia is ready for war."

"I do believe that Russia will go just as far as she can—short of war."

The general said democracies are always the most optimistic of all forms of government—nothing bothers them until it hurts. We are much in that situation right now.

Arnold said Russia "undoubtedly has carefully prepared plans for her aggressive tactics, plans for taking over continental Europe, and perhaps the world."

"The Russian forward movement may well be compared to the drive of a steamroller. The only way to stop such merciless subjugations is to remove the impetus that keeps the machinery turning."

Of the Marshall plan he wrote: "Undoubtedly, the plan will do wonders, but it will not stop Red forward movement."

He said the United Nations was impotent and that speeches will not cause Norway and Sweden to stiffen against the large Red army and Red air force.

chant vessel 300 miles off San Francisco, the official said. He added that identification of the object as a submarine was not positive.

Another merchant ship reported sighting a sub in an island group 800 miles west of Hawaii and a plane spotted the third off the Aleutians, the official said.

Sullivan told the committee he was "not prepared to evaluate the significance" of the submarine sightings. But he recalled that "an early step of the Germans in 1917 and 1918 was to deploy submarines off our coast."

Other Navy men said there is nothing to stop submarines of any country from plying the high seas. They added that the United States would have no formal grounds for objections unless a foreign submarine penetrated within the three-mile limit.

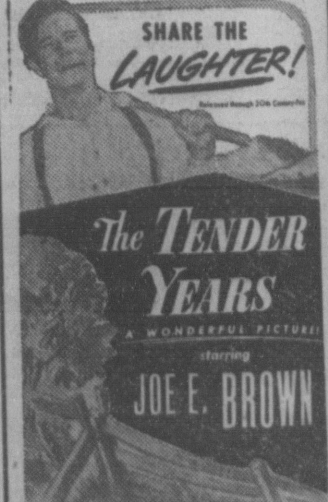

Sullivan declined comment when told that the locations of the reported sightings had been disclosed. He had said earlier:

"I know certainly would like to know that but we are not going to say. It would be very important for the 'other fellow' to know which of our ships have been sighted and which have not."

QUINS BORN, LIVE ONLY 20 MINUTES

(By United Press)

LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 26 — Quintuplets, three still born girls and two boys who lived about 20 minutes, were born Wednesday to Mrs. Roman V. Gadlage, 31, Louisville.

Dr. A. J. Pauli delivered the babies at St. Joseph Infirmary. Mrs. Gadlage, who has a 20 month old daughter, was in good condition today.

The children were the second set of quintuplets born in Kentucky. Dr. J. F. Furnish, Fern Creek, delivered five children to Mrs. Gaither Drury, Taylorsville, on Feb. 11, 1914. Two of the five are alive today.

Physicians here said 29 cases of quintuplets had been recorded. One estimated that such births occur once out of 42,000,000, but other doctors said it was impossible to give accurate statistics.

Dr. Pauli said Mrs. Gadlage, a small slender woman was in her fifth month of pregnancy. "If it had been a normal pregnancy we probably could show you live babies today," he added.

Mrs. Gadlage, who was elated over the prospect of triplets she had expected, was "disappointed of course," Dr. Pauli said, "but resigned to the fact that they couldn't have lived."

The first baby, a girl, was born yesterday at 8:40 a. m. She weighed 14 ounces and measured about 10 inches.

The second birth took place at 1:40 P. M. He weighed 10 and one-fourth ounces, measured nine inches, and lived until 2 p. m. Within seven minutes the other three were born.

The third child, which was stillborn, weighed 12 and three-fourth ounces and measured nine and one-half inches. The fourth, weighed eight and one-half ounces and measured about eight inches.

The last born arrived at 1:47 p. m., weighed 15 ounces, measured nine inches and lived until 2:20 p. m.

Mrs. Gadlage's husband, a clerk at Gadlage's meat market, was bewildered. But after the births he went home to take care of 20-month old Kathleen.

Funeral services for the babies were to be held this afternoon.

Gadlage said he did not know definitely of any multiple births in the family, although he had heard that someone "way back" had twins.

N. GEORGETOWN

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Monahan of Dayton were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Otis R. Stoffer. They attended funeral services for Mr. Monahan's uncle, Kersey R. Haynam at Minerva Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Henri Weller of Cleveland is a guest of her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Oorbeitt. Mr. and Mrs. George Koppenhofer of Vermilion visited James Cuddeback and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Wang over the weekend.

Mrs. Donald Knight and Mrs. Gaylord Wearstler of Alliance were guests of Mrs. Otis Stoffer on Tuesday.

Easter Service

Holy Communion will be observed at the morning service at the Lutheran church on Easter Sunday. The Sunday school will present an Easter program.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Grimes visited Mrs. Ida Heestand recently.

To Go To China

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Lautzenheiser and daughter spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Baker of Salem, R. D. Another guest was Mr. Baker's sister, Mrs. H. A. Baker of Youngstown. Mrs. Baker is leaving soon to join her husband, Rev. H. A. Baker, a missionary in China.

She was propped up on pillows. She was wearing a blue satin bed jacket with white pearl buttons and she had a blue ribbon in her hair. Gay put the ribbon there and then held the mirror for her to see. It looked pretty. She didn't look at her face in the mirror because she'd looked at her face once before and it didn't look a bit like herself. This face in the mirror was white and thin with haunted eyes that certainly didn't belong to her. She had to rest, she said, the doctor and Gay. She had to rest and drink lots of milk and take vitamins and lie in the sun and get strong. All she was to think about, they said, was getting strong. She'd had a bad bout with pneumonia and she had to be very careful.

It had taken her a long time to get as strong as she was. She'd lived through hours and days and nights and dreams. The dreams, she thought, were the worst because they were so difficult to straighten out, they took such funny turns. You never knew where a dream would end up. You couldn't actually tell where the dreams left off and where reality began. Although she was pretty sure. None of them thought she knew anything about it and that was all right with her because she certainly hadn't wanted to talk to them about it but she did remember some things. She remembered bits of the ride from the cottage to Tophill in the ambulance. She remembered seeing Stella and the maids hovering in the hall, watching as the strange men carried her upstairs on the stretcher. She saw them but she pretended she didn't. Because if she saw them, she'd have to smile at them and it wasn't worth the effort. Since that day when they'd brought her home she hadn't seen anyone but Gay. That had been all right too.

But now she was better and she had to start facing things. You never got anywhere by being a sissy, or a cry baby, and not facing things. She didn't know how long she'd been home but it was long enough and she was ready now. Ready to take the bull by the horns.

Gay took the mirror away and put it down on the dresser and then said, brightly, "How do you feel?"

People asked you such silly questions when you were sick. She said obligingly, "I feel fine."

Gay smiled and said, still in the same bright sickroom voice, "Do you want anything?"

So she said, because she'd been wanting to say it for so long and had been afraid to, "I want Rush."

She'd been prepared for anything except Gay's bursting into tears. "Gay," she said, "I didn't mean to upset you but you asked me. I—" She frowned—"I thought it was only that he was sick—that that was the reason he hadn't been near me. And I knew it would only distress you to have me ask you. Did he...? Is he...?" But she couldn't bring herself to say the words. "Gay, stop crying and listen to me!"

"I am listening. I heard you," Gay, antoondingly, hiccupped and turned a radiant face to Ann. "I just couldn't believe my ears. Of course I'll get him. Right away. We didn't dream—"

"I said what?" She didn't mean to sound so stiff but honestly Gay was being pretty silly. "I've been delicious, remember?"

Gay grinned and started for the door. She had her hand on the knob when Ann's voice stopped her.

"Gay—did Laurie... That pill go on?" Is Laurie...? She couldn't go on.

Gay stopped, stricken. But she wouldn't look at Ann. She said thickly, "I'll get Rush."

And then he was in the room. He came in very quietly and closed the door behind him, and they were alone. As she had thought they might never be again. His face was drawn and tired. There was a fine network of little lines around his eyes, the set of his jaw was tight.

"Rush," she said and the one word contained all her pent up longing.

He looked at her and opened his mouth and then closed it again. Then he said, "Hullo, Ann."

It was like a smack in the face. She tried to smile.

"That's a pretty feeble beginning," she said and her voice faltered.

He came across the room to her bed, sat down.

"You look better," he said critically.

"I look like a picked chicken," she said tartly and her heart began to race like mad. "But even a picked chicken surely deserves a better greeting than 'hullo'; especially when you've been as sick as I've been."

"I've got a lot to say," he told her. "After I've said it—"

"I don't know what words have got to do with it. I'd hoped we could dispense with them. I didn't think we needed them." Her chin began to wobble dangerously.

"But if it's apologies you want, I'll make them. I'll grovel—I'll crawl—I'll eat crow only—"

"Ann, for Pete's sake!" he was horrified. Then he was reaching for her, pulling her into his arms.

"Ann, you'll crawl? You'll eat crow? Are you crazy? Are you out of your mind?"

His own words stopped him again and she began to laugh but the tears caught up with her and then she was weeping, racked with sobbing but still in his arms held close to him.

April 6 Is Proclaimed As 'Army Day' In City

Mayor R. R. Johnson today issued a proclamation, designating Tuesday, April 6, as "Army Day" in Salem, in accordance with a similar proclamation made recently by President Truman.

The proclamation, in part, reads: "I urge upon the people of Salem to make use of this day to those gallant men and women who as members of our armed forces gave so much to insure the continued happiness of our nation."

In a similar action today, Governor Thomas Herbert proclaimed "Army Day" in Ohio, April 6.

Salem Invitational Tourney To Open Monday At Building

25 TEAMS ENTER JOE KELLEY'S ANNUAL TOURNEY

Eight Local Outfits Head List Expected to Grow To 32 by Saturday

Joe Kelley announced today that three additional teams have entered the tournament here, bringing the total at noon today to 28.

The Class A champions of Canton, the Yale Clothes, the Vienna-Scotts (A Youngstown college crew including Walt Brian, Ray Wise, and Matt Schaeffer) and the East Liverpool Heimies are the new entries.

All are top-notch clubs. An entry of eight independent quintets from Salem heads the list of 25 teams applying for positions in the annual Salem Invitational tournament, slated to get underway Monday night in the Memorial building.

Tourney Manager Joe M. Kelley said today 25 teams have entered the affair. He expects a double bracket of 32 teams to be filled either today or Saturday. Thirty-three squads took part in the 1947 tournament.

The defending champions, the Sharpesville Raiders will not be a part of the 1948 title chase, having turned professional this season. However, the calibre of entries indicate a worthy successor will be determined next week.

Farma, a perennial contender, returned its entry blank early, Kelley said. The team features Ernie Smith, former Baldwin-Wallace luminary.

Nick Gagich, a 1948 All-Ohio first team choice by the Associated Press, will lead a Mansfield five to the tourney. The team is composed of the majority of the Mansfield varsity.

The eight Salem combines include the currently over-active Melody Cleaners, Bliss, Amvets, United Tool & Die, Town Talk, Mullins, The Hub and an Orchard Crest Farm unit.

The Melody's boast big Bob Payer, the Quaker scoring scourge of the past three years, and several other top-notch local stars.

Other teams already entered include: Farrell, Pa., East Liverpool (V. F. W. 66), Barborton, Lisbon R. Thomas Co., Beloit, Lisbon V. F. W., Kent Delta Phis, Painesville, the Wigglesworth Wonders of West Salem, Berlin Center, Sebring Plumbers, Western Reserves (Goshen High), Ravenna Shields Sheriffs, Alliance Sarchiones and the Chester, W. Va., Harkers.

The tourney will run Monday through Friday.

Training Camp Briefs

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, D. R., March 26—Fears that Ace Relief Pitcher Casey was seriously ill were quickly dispelled by doctors at the Brooklyn Dodgers' training camp today.

Medical examination revealed nothing more serious, however than a pulled leg muscle in his right leg. Bob Ramazotti made a triple and a single yesterday as the regulars defeated the Yannisians, 1 to 0, behind the two-hit pitching of Willard Ramsdell and Clyde King.

LOS ANGELES, Bill Veeck, owner of the Cleveland Indians, was scheduled to arrive here today to confer with Veteran Slugger Hank Greenberg about a contract with the Indians.

The Indians split two games yesterday, the "A" team beating the Chicago White Sox, 5 to 4, with Pat Seery doubling home the winning run in the ninth inning, while the "B" squad lost to the University of Southern California by the same score, despite Larry Doby's 430-foot home run.

CLEARWATER, Fla. — Rookie Ritchie Ashburn today appeared a good bet to make the Philadelphia Phillies squad, while Dick Sisler was well on his way to winning the first base job with the St. Louis Cards.

Ashburn continued his fine hitting yesterday with a three-run homer in the ninth as the Phils beat the Cards, 9 to 6. Sisler crashed a single and a homer for the Cards, indicating that First-Baseman Stan Musial may go back to outfielding.

SARASOTA, Fla. — The Boston Red Sox had the first evidence of the year on Pitcher Tex Hughson's arm condition today and it was not cause for celebration.

The Sox trimmed the Cincinnati Reds yesterday, 12 to 7, but the edge was taken off the triumph by Hughson's poor showing. He gave up three runs on four hits and three walks in two innings.

SAN FRANCISCO—Ralph Kiner, the Pittsburgh Pirates' home-run artist, got his circuit clouting for the season under way yesterday with a four-bagger during the Pirates' 5 to 4 victory over the San Francisco Seals.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — Charley (Red) Embree, right-handed pitcher acquired by the New York Yankees from the Cleveland Indians during the winter, looked today like a good investment.

Embree gave up only one scratch single in six innings yesterday as the Yankees defeated the Detroit Tigers, 6 to 3. The Yanks got all their runs in the first inning on one hit and six walks against Albin County.

Agree On Cage Rule Changes

NEW YORK, March 26—The college basketball rule book is undergoing its annual face-lifting, but there's this consolation for the fans: The sport will still look like basketball.

The four rules adopted by the National Collegiate Basketball committee yesterday are:

1. A coach can talk to his team at the bench during intermission and timeouts. This makes coaching from the bench unnecessary.
2. Substitutes can enter the game merely by reporting to the score-keeper. All the referee has to do is recognize the player and say, "come on."
3. A player who is charged with a foul must raise his hand so the spectators can see.
4. All jump balls must be made at the nearest of three six-foot circles. This is to prevent scrambling for positions around the sidelines.

Blackburn Named Miami U. Mentor

(By Associated Press)

OXFORD, March 25 — George Blackburn, who helped pilot Miami university's 1947 grid team to an undefeated season and Sun Bowl championship, is the new boss man of the Redskins.

The 33-year-old Findlay college graduate was appointed head football coach at Miami yesterday to succeed Sid Gillman, who resigned recently to become line coach at the U. S. Military academy. Blackburn had served since 1945 as backfield coach under Gillman.

Dr. Ernest A. Hahne, university president, who announced the appointment, said the action had been recommended by the Miami's athletic advisory council.

Blackburn, a product of Columbus West High school, earned three football letters while quarterbacking at Findlay, where he graduated in 1936. Later, he attended Ohio State university.

Before being brought here by Gillman, the new Redskins mentor coached at Pomeroy, Gallipolis and Cincinnati Western Hills High schools.

Joe Madro will continue as line coach under Blackburn and Paul Dietzel, center of last year's team which won eight and tied one in the regular season, will be retained to pilot centers and ends.

With the appointment of Blackburn, Athletic Director Merlin Dwyer announced Miami's nine-game grid schedule for 1948: Sept. 18, Marshall; Sept. 25, at University of Virginia; Oct. 2, at Western Reserve; Oct. 16, Xavier; Oct. 23, at Ohio University; Oct. 30, Western Michigan; Nov. 6, at Dayton; Nov. 13, Wichita; Nov. 25, at Cincinnati.

REILLY SCHOOL, MUSKIES CAPTURE McGUIRE, 'C' CUPS

Boone's last second basket Thursday won the Mickey McGuire championship at the Memorial building Thursday. Boone's Reilly school outfit topped Fourth St. 19-18 in a thrilling overtime battle.

In the Class C rank the Muskies came through with a 28-24 win over the Middies to capture claim to the Class C championship. Both games ended the best two of three in title series.

The building gym was jammed for the grade school tilt as rabid supporters of both teams got a big bang out of the ding dong battle.

GREENBERG DUE TO SIGN TRIBE CONTRACT APRIL 1

Fair Guess Says Big Hank Will Sign Up With Indians For Sure

BY BOB MYERS

LOS ANGELES, March 26—This is strictly unofficial, but a fair guess is that Hank Greenberg will formally sign with the Cleveland ball club along about April 1.

And the joke, if any, may be on the opposing American league pitchers, including Dizzy Trout, Hal Newhouser and the rest of Henry's old playmates at Detroit.

President Bill Veeck is due to fly in today and of course the status, and form, of Greenberg will merit his personal inquiry.

But as Hank himself said, nothing definite will be decided until the Tribe returns to its training base at Tucson late this month.

The prediction of his signing is based on several factors, chiefly Greenberg's physical fitness after weeks of hard work as an unofficial member of the Cleveland family, and a snarl that has cropped up in the club's flossy infield.

The inner defense was hurt when the regular first baseman, Ed (Robbie) Robinson, twisted his right knee in a game at Oakland several days ago.

The extent of the damage can't be determined yet, but any knee injury is dangerous.

Meanwhile, Manager Lou Boudreau's other first sacker, Elbie Fletcher, hasn't been knocking the ball around nearly up to expectations.

Fletcher, whose disappointing .342 hitting with Pittsburgh last year was the low point of his long major league career, may snap out of it, of course.

Greenberg, however, could become insurance of a valuable nature and join the select circle of Boudreau, Joe Gordon and Ken Keltner, one of the best combinations in the league.

Hankus-Pankus hit 25 homers for the Pirates last year, "but I just about batted my weight," he cracked. It wasn't quite that bad, but 251 hitting isn't par for the Greenberg course.

Incidentally, he's down to a trim 220 pounds now, and in five times at bat against "A" competition, he has batted out three hits, including a double just yesterday that must have loosened a brick in the left field wall at Wrigley field.

He may be slowed down a bit around the bag, but he is still a capable glove man, a large target for his throwers—and as long as he can put a bat to his shoulder, he's a dangerous hitter.

Since March 1, when the Indians' spring training camp opened, Greenberg has been one of the hardest working athletes and has said that he feels in better condition than he has in six years.

He was at first yesterday as the Indians snapped a ninth-inning tie to defeat the Chicago White Sox, 5 to 4.

Board Prepares For May Primary

The Columbiana county board of elections has filled all vacancies in precinct personnel for the May 4 primary election.

The appointments, including presiding judges, total 726 for the 121 precincts. They will be paid $8 each, with $2 extra and mileage for the presiding judges.

The compensation, however, will be increased to $12 when appointments for the new term are made after Sept. 15, under recently-enacted legislation.

The board of elections will request precinct recommendations by central committee members after the May primaries.

Balloting machinery also will be set up for submission of three questions or issues—two in East Palestine city and one in Wellsville school district.

East Palestine will vote on renewal of two one-mill tax levies for street and municipal park maintenance. An additional two-mill current expense levy has been asked in the Wellsville school area.

Absentee ballots for civilians wishing to vote at the primaries will be available April 5 for a 30-day period.

Ballots for men and women in the armed forces have been available since March 5.

CANTON MOTHER SENTENCED TO YEAR

CANTON, March 26.—Mrs. Violet Jane Rufer, 28, Canton mother was sentenced to one year in the Marysville reformatory for women, today on a charge of neglecting her four children.

The children, who range in age from one to six years, were adjudged wards of Stark county by Judge Paul D. Van Nostrand. A neglect charge pending against the father of the children, John J. Rufer, 38, was deferred until an auto theft charge filed against him in Ashtabula county, is settled.

The Rufer children were found March 4 in a basement apartment under the care of a 64-year-old woman who told police she had neither food nor money for their support.

Farm Crops To Rise

COLUMBUS, March 25 — Ohio farmers will grow larger crops of oats, corn and barley this year, the federal-state crop reporting service said today, but soybean, hay, sugar beet and potato acreages will be below 1947.

The service reported the largest increase was 40 per cent for oats and the largest decrease 50 per cent for sugar beets. Burley tobacco crops were not expected to change from last year but a 10 per cent increase was seen for cigar-filler tobacco.
